TEXAS ANTI-TRUST

ANNOUNCEMENT!

We beg to announce that we are now displaying our Spring Lines of Men's Fashionable Garments. and take pleasure to state that it is the most comprehensive assortment of correct fashions in Suits and Top Coats ever shown by any house in this city. We desire to impress the fact that the ready-to-wear garments we sell are tailored by skilled custom tailors, and are far superior to the ordinary ready-made or made-to-order clothing. The workmanship is perfect, and they possess all the individuality characteristic of swell custom garments-being graceful, abso'utely perfect-fitting and faultlessly trimmed, while our prices are from one-third to half the cost charged by the very best custom tailors.

We recommend an early inspection while the assortment is complete, and shall take pleasure to show you our magnificent lines of correct wearing apparel.

Bowery Restaurant Managers to Test Music Hall Act.

New York, March 19.-The managers of two East Side resorts, McGuirts and "Little Bucks," were held for trial to-day by Magistrate Flammer on a charge of violating istrate Flammer on a charge of violating the music hail act, by having music in a drinking place. Magistrate Flammer said that he thought the music in these places was the principal attraction, being used to induce people to come in and drink. The lawyers for the prisoners amounced their intention to test the question whether it was a crime to have music in restaurants on the Bowery, and legal to have it in high bots on Fifth avenue. They would send people to the Holland House and to the Wallorf-Astoria to see if the music was not the principal inducement there as well as it is down on the East Side.

John W. Kauffman filed suit yesterday against Pascal J. Shampay of Chicago, to restrain him from prosecuting a suit in Justice Harmon's court against Mr. Kauffman for SELISE, for cleaning tugs.

The petition states that the detendant agreed to clean some rugs for the plaintiff, and that the rugs were sent to Chicago. The rugs were returned, with the exception of one rug, valued at $1.50 whi h the defendant said was burned. The agreement was that the rugs were to be insured by the defendant, which was not done, it is alleged. Kauffman states that he filed suit in the Circuit Court in Chicago for the value of the rug, and that he is informed that the suit will not be tried for a year. He cannot plead the alleged damage to the rug as an offset to the suit in the Justice Court, because the Justice has no jurisdiction on account of the amount.

A contention of the city in defending the injunction suit, was that, since the older ordinances provided that rates of fare "not exceeding 5 cents" could be charged, that the city had power to regulate the rates at "reasonable" figures. The court holds that the substance or meaning of all these ordinances permits been fares, which privilege cannot afterwards be annualled. A contention of the city in defending the of February, 1900, has been greater than was at first espected.

The action of that convention has aroused the Indians to such an extent that a convention of the chitzens of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations has been called by Green McCurtain, as principal chief of the Choctaw Nation, and D. H. Johnsten, as Governor of the Chickasaw Nation.

The call states that the South McAlester convention does not represent the interests of the Indians and urges the clitzens of the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nations to organize against the "unlawful unreasonal" and unjust demands of that convention.

It is suggested that each county of the Choctaw Nation send delegates and that the Chickasaw Nation send delegates, and that the Chickasaw Nation send delegates equal to the total number of Choctaw representatives.
